

“The Jews should have offered themselves to the butcher's knife. They should have thrown themselves into the sea from cliffs,”

“It would have aroused the world and the people of Germany ... as it is, they succumbed anyway in their millions.”

