

2000 years ago

- Greeks added ninety days every eight years to correct the drift
- Jewish people added a month every three years
- Chinese added seven months every nineteen years
- But . . .

Tropical Year

- Some civilizations based their year off of the tropical year or the orbit of the earth around the sun
- The Egyptians had a 365 day year and (and some wanted to add 1 day every four years but the Egyptian priests resisted this because their calendar was too sacred to alter
