

► Year end production profits divided up among farmers
according to contribution

► Bonus used to encourage factory production

► Higher wages assigned to dangerous work

➤ Managers exercising quotas given special privileges

➤ These were not overly successful – the drive for quotas meant that little care was given to product quality or efficiency

PROBLEM OF INCENTIVE – SOME EXAMPLES OF SOLUTIONS

PROBLEM OF INCENTIVE – SOME EXAMPLES OF SOLUTIONS

- Year end production profits divided up among farmers according to contribution
- Bonuses used to encourage factory production
- Higher wages assigned to dangerous work
-
- Managers exceeding quotas given special privileges
- These were not overly successful – the drive for quotas meant that little care was given to product quality or efficiency

...but real economic science